MARKET VIEW

Sucorinvest Money Market Fund (SMMF) posted an increase of 0.41% during the month of August. This performance was slightly above the benchmark, and as of year-to-date SMMF still managed to outperform the benchmark by 0.35%. Deposit rates from several banks were adjusted in line with the increasing interest rates, as well as a rising corporate bond index of 0.44% throughout the month of August 2018 which heavily contributed to SMMF' strong performance. Going forward, we remain optimistic with SMMF, we still see a potential increase in interest rates from banks in response to the current global financial situation, which is still supported by good national macroeconomic conditions in general.
